2016 Yuntai Mountain Daye Qianliang Tea

Storage in the company's professional, standard warehouse After six years of precipitation, the transformation is perfect, the taste is amazing
Not only time, but also Yuntai Mountain Big Leaf Species
Let tea be stored properly and make time more valuable

The color of dry tea is dark brown and oily; the bottom of the leaves is yellow-brown, the leaves are still intact, with stems; the color of the tea soup is red and bright, showing an amber color; brewed with boiling water, it fully releases the pure flavor of the big leaf mother, and the taste is mellow and sweet. The tea soup is soft in the middle, has good overall coordination, is stable and has high foam resistance. The later it is steeped, the sweeter it becomes, and the aroma is unique. The aroma is pure and long-lasting, with a sweet fragrance of cane sugar and a touch of light Bamboo fragrance.
